

You Think You Know Somebody

Hunter Hayes

Hmm You open your heart
Open your mind
Let somebody in
Take a walk through you past
The good and the bad
Decide you can do this again
But it's supposed to feel different
Supposed to feel safe
Safe like going homeÂ
But just like sand
It slips through your hands
Before you know it your faith is goneEvery late night call,
Every morning kiss
All the "I can't live without yous"
And you say goodbye like this
Don't you understand?
Do you even care?
If you love me like you said you did
Well you'd still be standing here
You think you know somebody yeahIt's all just a blur
The nights are the worst,
This bed still smells like you
Wake up from the dreams
Catch my breath, it takes everything I've got to move
Yeah it could've been a long walk talk to fix this,
The seas were getting rough,Â but I thought we were worth this Worth a try, worth a fight, show you what I know, yeahEvery late night call,Â
Every morning kiss
All the "I can't live without yous"
And you say goodbye like this
Don't you understand?
Do you even care?
If you love me like you said you didÂ
Well you'd still be standing here
You think you know somebody yeahTell me where did you go,Â when the lights came up?
I don't even know you anymore
You're holding a knife I could see things better
Yeah you've done this beforeYou think you know
Hmm

Yeah, you think you know somebody
 You think you know
 You think you know
 You think you knowÂ
 You think you knowÂ
You think you knowÂ Every late night call,Â
 Every morning kiss
All the "I can't live without yous"
 And you say goodbye like this
 Don't you understand?
 Do you even care?
If you love me like you said you didÂ
 Well you'd still be standing here
You think you know somebodyYou think you know somebody, yeah yeah yeah
 You think you know
 You think you know
You think you know somebody, yeahYou think you know
 You think you know
You think you know somebodyYou never know, you never know

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>