Prick

Stutter

So what you didn't get what you want
You think that everyone else owes you
You're way out of line
But then you put on your best game face
It doesn't seem like the time or place
You're going out of your mind

And I'm tired
And you're tired of Everything running through your head
And everything you said before
You're saying it again
You think that everybody's coming after you

And now you see how the other half lives
You want to take, you don't want to give
You're way out of line
So then you go and you run and hide
You keep it hidden all deep inside
You're going out of your mind

You think that we don't know
But you, you know that you fool yourself
True colors are shining through
Your mask, it seems to be wearing off
YOU FUCKING PRICK!!!!

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/