

I Could Be A King

The Dunwells

Lay down your tools and play the game
Of an ordinary fairy tale at least in there you cannot fail
Get back to basics and play the child's way
At least in there you cannot get hurt
No rules and regulations there 'Cause I could be a king
I could be anything I want
I could be a poem
I could be some writing on the wall
I could be a super hero staring down the barrel of a gun
I could be a piece of artwork fading into the sun Will you please down your tools and play the game
Of an ordinary fairy tale at least in there you cannot fail
It's a shame I know but I have to go
I've had something planned for weeks and weeks
This situation's changed you see 'Cause I could be a king
I could be anything I want
I could be a poem
I could be some writing on the wall
I could be a super hero staring down the barrel of a gun
I could be a piece of artwork fading into the sun Yes I could be a king, oho, oho
Oh I could be a king,
Yes I could be a king
Oh I could be a king, I could be a super hero, staring the barrel of a gun
I could be a piece of artwork, fading into the sun

Songwriters

DAVE HANSON, DAVID DUNWELL, JONATHAN LAMB, JOSEPH DUNWELL Published by Lyrics © THE BICYCLE MUSIC COMPANY Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>