

On and On

Piebald

If you see a cobweb
Just don't care
It's the last thing you should fear.
Just live and save yourself
From all that's living there.
And if you wander off
Enjoy your time,
It's the last thing you should think,
My dear, we'd leave you there.
And you'd be left behind. There is still far to go.
There is still far to go. And if you get excited,
Hold your breath,
Dream that you're underwater.
Eyes closed, all relaxed,
Sinking and soaking wet.
And if you need the lights on
Don't get scared,
Take a walk to find a lamp post,
Dear, acquaint yourself with all that's living there. There is still far to go.
There is still far to go.
There is still far to go.
It goes on, and on, and on. So what you came to do
Will never be done.
All the weird stuff happening,
Who do you listen to?
Not attractive, but passive.
You wanna attack, but need someone to go first. And if you've reached exhaustion,
Just stay in bed
Getting out may get you nowhere.
Re pull the warmth over your little head. There is still far to go.
There is still far to go.
There is still far to go.
It goes on, and on, and on.
