Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

The steps on the stairs aren't really there
Feel like there's someone watching me
Shadows on the wall, whispers down the hall
When I look there's nothing to see You say that you let her go
Turn the page and closed the door
Can't get inside your head
'Cause when I try, she's there instead I can't compete with a memory
How can I fight with someone that I can't see?
There's two of us but it feels like three
I wish her ghost would just let us be Boy, you're everything I ever wanted
But I got to let you go 'cause this love is Haunted, haunted You say that she's gone that you've moved on
So why do I feel her eyes on me?
Invisible chains keep us in pain
Won't you please tell her set you free? Sometimes when you look past me
Your eyes see someone I can't see
So I've given up this war
'Cause I can't fight it anymore I can't compete with a memory
How can I fight with someone that I can't see?
There's two of us but it feels like three
I wish her ghost would just let us be Boy, you're everything I ever wanted
But I got to let you go 'cause this love is Haunted, haunted Wish I could cast a spell to make her spirit leave
The walls close and then it's so damn hard to breath
There is nothing I could do about it I can't compete with a memory
How can I fight with someone that I can't see?
There's two of us but it feels like three
I wish her ghost would just let us be Boy you're everything I ever wanted
But I got to let you go 'cause this love is
Haunted, haunted, haunted, haunted I don't want to fight anymore
Someone is walking out that door Haunted
