

This Is War

The Dangerous Summer

My heart woke up my head like a thunderstorm;
A place where I can barely stand.
I spent a winter without my air
But now I feel it in my chest.
I'm just so sick of the scenery,
And all those hours without sex.
I get so tired of being me,
But now I'm feeling this again.
And God knows that you can't see after dark,
But I won't give this up 'cause I wrote this on my chest.
So tell me what you think of the atmosphere
And all those months inside my head.
Well do you really believe in me?
I will hold this like a gun
Because I've got some things to do.
"Stay what you are".
Because I've got some things to do.
I filled up all my future with written words.
I told the whole world I was spent.
I came around when they needed me,
And that's just how I learned to give
With all the feelings and losing sleep;
Now I never want to go.
And God knows that you can't see after dark,
But I won't give this up 'cause I wrote this on my chest.
So tell me what you think of the atmosphere
And all those months inside my head.
Well do you really believe in me?
I will hold this like a gun
Because I've got some things to do.
"Stay what you are".
Because I've got some things to do.
And I do.
I've got all these plans laid out again like this is war;
And I want to touch the coast again.
I'll forget to take my voice as going,
Forget to hold my breath as spoken,
And say don't you remember where you've been.
So tell me what you think of the atmosphere

And all those months inside my head.
Well do you really believe in me?
I will hold this like a gun
Because I've got some things to do.
"Stay what you are".
Because I've got some things to do.
Because I've got some things to do.
"stay what you are".
Because I've got some things to do.
