Prism #1

Stateless

Woke up with a start, your voice in my head last night
Now I can't remember a single word
Images come back flashing like a broken light
Everything has gotten a little blurredSnapped another thread, burned another bridge last night
How come I can act like such a fool?
I'm chasing it around, feels like an addiction
Guess I'll disregard it, make it disappearEverything we said is messing with my head
I'm hanging by a thread and it's waningYou're just a little scared of being lonely
And I am, I am too
You're just a little scared of being lonely
And I am, I am tooImages come back flashing like a broken light
And everything has gotten a little blurred
It's chasing me around, it feels like an affliction
Guess I'll have to face it, make it disappearEverything we said is messing with my head
I'm hanging by a thread and it's waningYou're just a little scared of being lonely
And I am, I am too
You're just a little scared of being lonely
And I am, I am tooYou're just a little scared now, you're just a little scared now
You're just a little scared of being lonely
You're just a little scared of being lonely
And I am, I am tooYou're just a little scared now, you're just a little scared now
You're just a little scared of being lonely
You're just a little scared of being lonely
And I am, I am too

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/