Cellar Door

Holly Brook

Cellar door, what's the use Cellar door, are you open to find me Iron ore shields remorse When I look, I look to your beautiful name And find you're not the sameCellar door, what's the case Are you locked in your shadow's embrace Do you feel so insane That you don't, you don't want to show me your face But I, I can relateHolding on to everything That makes us bleedOverflowing underneath my pretty face With the presence of the haste Now they're sayin' don't believe anything But I do believe, I know you wellCellar dooroligist Your therapy is the one I love best You give me strength to confess That I, I will not last very long So soon, I'll be goneOh, these walls know everything And I'm tired of being lost insideOverflowing underneath my pretty face With the presence of the haste Now they're sayin', don't believe anything But I do believe I know youOverflowing underneath my pretty face With the presence of the haste Now they're sayin', don't believe anything But I do believe I know youLove will come to me and I will not remain Hover over these confused contaminated veins Love will come to me and I will not remain Hover over these confused contaminated veinsHey yeah, hey yeah

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/

Hey yeah, hey yeah