

You Belong to Me

Grey Holiday

You run, you hide
As tears fall from your eyes
They fall like snow
From a wounded soul You hold inside
The hurt of great divide
The hole is starting to get old So, come back to the light
To the love, you will find
It's been here all along So, come back to the start
And you'll find in your heart
That you always belonged to Me Just take the rope
I won't let it go
Give in, we can start again I'm life, I'm hope
And I'm ready to explode
With how bad I want you back home So, come back to the light
To the love, you will find
It's been here all along So, come back to the start
And you'll find in your heart
That you always belonged to Me, to Me You're my daughter, you're my son
You're the one I long to love
And you've heard I chose to die
Do you know you're the reason why? So, come back to the light
To the love, you will find
It's been here all along So, come back to the start
And you'll find in your heart
That you always belonged So, come back to the light
To the love, you will find
It's been here all along So, come back to the start
And you'll find in your heart
That you always belonged to Me, to Me
To Me, to Me, to Me
