Jonah

Grammatrain

I lost myself
Rather images I had of me did tell
How different from truth they wereI think I'm drowning and the ocean is raging
My smile is frowning and my insides are praying
And I've swallowed all my yesterdaysKilled my past to follow the way
I think I'm drowning and the ocean
Screams to me my nameI've fallen in
Or did I jump headfirst into this ocean
All I know is I cannot swimI think I'm drowning and the ocean is raging
My smile is frowning and my insides are praying
And I've swallowed all my yesterdaysKilled my past to follow the way
I think I'm drowning and the ocean
Screams to me my nameI know that you'll dry all my tears
I know you're beyond all my fears
I know when I call out your name
My soul you saveI lost myself
Rather images I had of me did tell
How different from truth they wereI think I'm drowning and the ocean is raging
My smile is frowning and my insides are praying
And I've swallowed all my yesterdaysKilled my past to follow the way
I think I'm drowning but I hear you
Calling out my name
