

Ring on Her Finger, Time on Her Hands

Reba McEntire

I stood before God, my family and friends
And vowed that I'd never love anyone else again
Only himAs pure as my gown of white, I stood by his side
And promised that I'd love him till the day I died
Lord, please forgive me even though I lied

'Cause You're the only one who knows just how hard I triedI had a ring on my finger and time on my hands

The woman in me needed the warmth of a man
The gold turned cold in my wedding band

It's just a ring on your finger when there's time on your handsWhen I add up all the countless nights, I cried myself to sleep

And all the broken promises you somehow failed to keep
He can't blame me'Cause he's the one who left me too many times alone

In a three bedroom prison I tried to make a home
My love slowly died but the fire inside still burned

And the arms of a stranger was the only place left to turnI had a ring on my finger and time on my hands
The woman in me needed the warmth of a man

The gold turned cold in my wedding band

It's just a ring on your finger when there's time on your handsI had a ring on my finger and time on my hands
'Cause the woman in me needed the warmth of a man
The gold turned cold in my wedding band
It's just a ring on your finger when there's time on your hands
