

The Noble Art of Letting Go

Rebekka Karijord

Rest your tired head now my friend I will stand by You dont have to say no more I know what you came here for Eyes sore and shoes untied walking the streets all nightNo new cities lovers friends can make you feel complete The sense of loneliness remains no matter who you meet When all you pictured failed and all your dreams are crossed remember that your strenght is also built on what you lostThe noble art of letting...Your blindspot is rejection and youll be on your own when youre petrified of all thats warm and real invisible scars take forever to heal The daylight will soften your mood come now accept whats goodNo new cities lovers friends...The noble art of letting go
