

Hallelujah

Newsboys

Walk into the sunlight so bright
Illumination blocking out the night
She knows that the promises are airtight
There is no doubt you can see it in her eyes
You'll hear her singing to heaven
Even without letting out a word to be heard
In every single situation none too big, none too small
She looks up and the world looks on She sings Hallelujah
When all has become nothing
And her hope in the Savior has colored all she does
And taints the way she loves
She sings Hallelujah and falls to the ground again
With hands stretched up to sky
She is waiting for the day, she'll hear the Father say Step into the spotlight so bright
A character check in the dead of night
To cut the stays of reason, till death defy
All understanding in the neighbor's eye
To run this race like this day's the last
Celebrate, in all we do and all we say
Look up 'cause the world looks on She sings Hallelujah
When all has become nothing
And her hope in the Savior has colored all she does
And taints the way she loves
She sings Hallelujah and falls to the ground again
With hands stretched up to sky
She is waiting for the day, she'll hear the Father say We sing Hallelujah
When all has become nothing
And our hope in the Savior has colored all we do
Let it be for you
We'll sing Hallelujah and fall to the ground again
With hands stretched up to the sky
We're waiting for the day, we'll hear the Father say, yeah We gonna hear Him say, yeah
"Well done, good and faithful one
Enter in, come on share with me
Welcome home, good and faithful one
It's on and on to eternity"

Songwriters

RUTLEDGE, BRETT / JOEL, PHIL Published by

Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc., LEIBER & STOLLER MUSIC PUBL, CARLIN AMERICA INC Song
Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>