

Stop the Show

Built to Spill

You don't tell me anything
That's not a dream, that's not a big lie
You're not going anywhere
You don't care, you think that's fine
You don't owe me anything
Your offering, it's already mine
Your best friend is everywhere
They don't care, they think you're slime
You don't even know what it means
To take your own advice
And then expect me to look surprised
After a while you know their style
And that's enough to know they suck
And when you know, they'll stop the show
Because they know you know
