Take You Back

Vaizo

Looks like history's repeating, I don't learn from my mistakes
I can't feel the water rising, a wave will always break
I wanna take you back, back to where we started
Before the lights had changed
Words we didn't get to say seem to hit the hardest
Now just your memory is all that's ever coming back to me
The heart you are defending has guards that I can't kill Can't you see the happy ending? I'll race you standing still
I wanna take you back, back to where we started
Before the lights had changed

Words we didn't get to say seem to hit the hardest
Now just your memory is all that's ever coming back
Did you think that you could be so far gone that I couldn't find you?
Did you think that you could leave every little piece of me behind you?
I wanna take you back, back to where we started
Before everything changed
Words we never get to say always hit the hardest
Now just your memory is all that's ever coming back
I know you're never coming back to me, to me

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/