In Every Dream Home (A Nightmare)

Joe Jackson

The guy who lives upstairs
Is an actor so they say or maybe worse
They say he changed his name
'Cause someone with the same name made it firstHis girlfriend comes to stay
We hear her screams and think that they rehearse
So maybe it's a play
Or maybe someone's really getting hurtLook 'round every home town
Every nice house, every fair deal
Every good job, every square meal
In every dream home a nightmareThe girl who lives next door
Is a model so they say though I'm not sure
She never seems to work
Though clothes she wears suggest that she's not poorShe seems to be well known
With man friends always coming to her door
But they don't look her type
And she don't look the type to be a whoreLook 'round every home town
Every nice house, every fair deal
Every good job, every square meal
In every dream home a nightmare

Songwriters
JACKSONPublished by Lyrics Â© Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/