

Fumble

Architecture in Helsinki

Found a flaw in the ending of a book that I've read twice.

I set her straight it's not based on your life.

There's tension in this room we'll have butterflies soon,

Fumbling round in the dark with a flashlight. No need to be uncalm we'll, leave it by the phone.

A message you can swallow, a letter to sign.

No need to be alarmed we'll leave this all alone And all the guilt will follow You in a line... There's tension in this room We'll have butterflies soon fumbling round in the dark with a flashlight.
