All I Wanted

The Eyeliners

Like the dry and faded leaves,
I watch my world around changing,
Such a cold and dark season,
Raindrops falling with no sun,
Because we threw it all away
And there's no one else to blame.
Why does this have to be so hard?
Was it in the cards, it was almost ours,
When it all become too much.I'm giving in to giving up,
You fall in love just to fall apart.
I'm giving in to giving up,
You fall in love just to fall apart.How did we wind up in this place?
Where did we break along the way?
No ideas and no solutions,
Just some broken resolutions.
We passed the point of no return,
After all this what did we learn?
I guess I never realized at all,
That love is blind.
As hard as I tried, it just wasn't enough.I'm giving in to giving up,
You fall in love just to fall apart.
I'm giving in to giving up,
You fall in love just to fall apart.
