

You Never Came Back

Tacocat

He's got tentacles for fingers, comes back home but the feeling lingers

Calls me from the burn, says he needs to learn

He's burning, he never came back

He's burning, he never came back

He's burning, never came back to me

He just wanted an escape, a risk he's willing to take

Wants to lose his mind, in the desert feeling fine

He's burning, he never came back

He's burning, he never came back

He's burning, never came back to me

Thinks he sees the universe, thinks he blessed but it's a curse

Chemistry's changed, wires rearranged

He's burning, he never came back

He's burning, he never came back

He's burning, never came back to me

Never came back to me

Never came back, never came back

Never came back, never came back

Never came back, never came back

Never came back, never came back

He's burning, he never came back

He's burning, he never came back

He's burning, never came back to me

Never came back to me
