True Belief

Paradise Lost

Wretched will, host of pleasure surreal
Closed the room where the last is buriedRise or fall at your master's request
You're unable to accept redemptionI don't know about a true belief here
With the "lost" it's the same as alwaysAll I want is the same, a true beliefYou can't wait to become a memory
With the "weak" it's the same as alwaysStand confused lack of comprehension,
Re-aroused by a thought of madnessAnd I know that the truth is always right
But it's time to search for lies
You're the one I try to save
But the blood spills from your veinsCall counting time till the end
Death's wicked smile never fails
The curse is cast, you've lost the past
Forevermore, a candle burns here no moreI don't know about a century of life
When the love of generations dieI can see no good in taking your own life
When any moment death calls...All I want is the same, a true belief
