

Hello Brother

Louis Armstrong

A man wants to work for his pay
A man wants a place in the sun
A man wants a gal proud to say
That she'll become his lovin' wife
He wants a chance to give his kids a better life
Well hello, hello, hello brother You can travel all around the world and back
You can fly or sail or ride a railroad track
But no matter where you go you're gonna find
That people have the same things on their minds A man wants to work for his pay
A man wants a place in the sun
A man wants a gal proud to say
That she'll become his lovin' wife
He wants a chance to give his kids a better life
Well hello brother, hello Yeah [Incomprehensible] He wants a chance to give his kids a better life, yes
Well hello, hello, brother hello
I said, "Hello, hello, brother hello"

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>