

Bloodstone

Pheromone

I shot the sky - I made a hole in the sky
I just wanted to kill this fire was burning me down into the ground
First I'd destroyed all the rules - now I'm sealing these wounds
I just wanted to kill this fire was burning me down into the ground
World I made has drown in misery
Face I drew the scar of disbelief is still inside of me
World I made has drown in agony
Clench your fists and try to brake through the shield of the wall
Paint the white into a bloodstone
That's all that I've got from peace that I once broke down
That's all that I can be proud of what I had done for now
