Raging Squall

Brown Bird

I wrestled round with raging squalls and it's wreaking havoc I rest my coils to break my crew their filthy habits
They reign the righteous sailors seeking on his tree they compromise the kinder calm we all embraceIt's full ahead in spite of all
The sea has teeth that tear you as you rise and fall
As to hope abandon allthis vessel vexes every nerve so tests my patience
But i know it's more than I deserve this relic of ancients She's listed like a drunken witch that's never sure She'll right herself when she in balance is restoredIt's full ahead in spite of all the sea has teeth that tear you as you rise and fall as to hope abandon all
