

I Wish I Could Break Your Heart

Cassadee Pope

I wish I could break your heart
I wish I could bring you down
Just for a second, teach you a lesson about being alone in the dark
I wish I could make you cry
So hard you can barely breath
And maybe you just might know what it feels like
Oh to be me Well the truth is that I never ever wanna hurt you baby
But it'd be nice to know that I could
Be strong enough to pull you under, throw you back a little under thunder
Even though I never would
I wish I could break, I wish I could break your heart I wish I could crush your dreams
I wish I could turn back time
Boy I'd lead you on light the fuse, drop the bomb
Just so I'd be the first to leave Well the truth is that I never ever wanna hurt you baby
But it'd be nice to know that I could
Be strong enough to pull you under, throw you back a little under thunder
Even though I never would
I wish I could break, I wish I could break your heart I wish I could break your heart
I wish I could make you cry
I wish I could turn back time Well the truth is that I never ever wanna hurt you baby
But it'd be nice to know that I could
Be strong enough to pull you under, throw you back a little under thunder
Even though I never would
I wish I could break, I wish I could break your heart I wish I could break your heart
I wish I could break your heart
