Disconnected

Sky Eats Airplane

So close yet still so far
You can run but you'll never escape
I tried to pull myself together
But I guess it's too lateI am the fire in your heart
Go to sleep and wait for the spark
Will you forgive me for this day?
My life's a wasteThis is the anger that lets me down
I hope that you will never live this down
Abandon all your hope just to leave this mess
Out of anyone I should know you bestWhat, what a [Incomprehensible] this is
To make your breath stopYou are the gasoline
I am the fire that burns on down
Down the ground
Till there will be nothing leftSweat drips down from my head
As I feel the heat from where I stand
Believe me, I'm not gonna save you
You'll be forever burned alive
