Remember November

Juliana Hatfield

We spoke two different languages
But a touch said everything we couldn't say
Translating every mystery of time and placeRemember November, remember November
Away in the dark you made me feel something
And gave me a reason to keep tryingYour hands were filled with electricity
Like the moon and stars lit from within
Illuminating something asleep in meRemember November, remember November
Away in the dark you made me feel something
And gave me a reason to keep tryingA great escape from a lonely life
A great escape from a lonely lifeRemember November, remember November
Away in the dark you made me feel something
And gave me a reason to keep trying
Away in the dark you made me feel something
And gave me a reason to keep trying, trying
