Work Of Art

Rachel Platten

My heart beats like it's on fire and everything is alright, as long as I am inspired I stitched together my life from hand me downs and good advice that finally fit me

I put my heart where my head should be
and light up the rest of me Cause my dreams, they won't fall apart through the stops & starts when you're life is a work of art

I found this door to my inside, I flung it open so dreams could rush in like the high tide I learned I'm not an island, or a fairytale, cause in the end I'm not pretending

I put my heart where my head should be
and light up the rest of me
you're life is a work of art

My heart keeps tumbling my head keeps fumbling my life's begun and then I jump in the ocean
My heart keeps tumbling but the words have started coming and I think I am finally ready put my heart where my head should be

and light up the rest of me
Cause my dreams, they won't fall apart through the stops & starts when you're life is a work of art
