The Stone

Ashes Divide

I've been pushing storms away far from these shores

I pretend that it's all ok

Till on the brink of what can't be enduredWe survive

Well we can change

So let it fade

Just let it go

We pretend so nothing does change

We're flowers never breaking through the stone. I pretended and prayed it all away, searching for a place to hide But I don't need afflicted memories to fade,

I just want to feel something real inside. We survive

Well we can change

So let it fade

Just let it go

We pretend so nothing does change

We're flowers never breaking through the stone. I've been pushing storms away

Far from these shores

I..

Pretend that it's all ok

Till on the brink of what can be enduredWe survive

What we can't change

So let it fade

Just let it go

We pretend so nothing does change

We're flowers never breaking through the stone

Lyrics provided by

https://damnlyrics.com/