

The Blizzard's Never Seen the Desert Sands

The Tallest Man On Earth

Oh the Blizzard's never seen the desert sands, I will set that timber low in my commands
Come follow down the highway,
Once we'll buy my golden cab
For the blizzards never seen the desert sand. Now we'll drive it like a shepard to the sun, its the easiest decision I have done.
Come follow down the highway,
Once we'll buy my golden cab,
For the blizzards never seen the desert sand. And the bells up in the towers they will ring, and the frightened little choirs they will sing.
They will tremble on their voices, like its from another shore.
Oh, the frightened little choirs they will sing. I will set up in the saddle of the storm,
I will ride upon the sea I stand before, though the people on the beaches, wet nothing, but themselves.
I will setup in the saddle of the storm.
