World's Cry

Thunderstone

Hey you, close your eyes and listen
Can you hear the voices
It's the world that's calling your nameYou live your life in your small tiny world
You don't care, you don't give a damn
But the time will recall what you've doneWe have a vision, we have a destination
We are here for ourselves
These are the reasons, reasons for a fall
And this will be our callHey you, it's time to open your eyes
And see those things as they are
This is the fight you can't winWe are here in our small tiny world
We don't care, we don't give a damn
And the world will recall what we've doneWe have a vision, we have a destination
We are here for ourselves
These are the reasons, reasons for a fall
And this will be our callCan you hear the world's cry
And tell me why this pain we feed
Can you hear the world's cry
Can you hear the cryClose your eyes and listen
Can you hear the voices
It's the world that's calling your nameCan you hear the world's cry
And tell me why this pain we feed
Can you hear the world's cryCan you hear the world's cry
And tell me why this pain we feed
Can you hear the world's cry
Can you hear the cry
