

Sunshine

Katie Noonan

She sits there, the shower water washing, washing away her fears. Her face glanced up in frustration at that voice just doesn't let up I look up and I see that smile again
I look up and I see sunshine again
I look up and I see your face again
And I see your face again She said the girl five minutes ago, I don't know who that was, I got lost and loose my way She breathes in and out, again slowly and reality creeps back in It's never like the movies... I look up and I see that smile again
I look up and I see sunshine again
I look up and I see your face again
And I see your face again
See your face again.
And I see your face again... And you lift her hand again, and you kiss away her tears, and you lift her eyes again

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>