Space Ghosts

Yours Truly

When you finally open your eyes to see what lies ahead
It never was as bright to you, but now things are different.
I hope you see that Im still trying as hard as I can
Because it means more to me than youll ever understandTake your time and figure out what to say
I promise Ill stay yet another day
I just cant shake these thoughts of you and I
Running barefoot as the rain comes down
Acting careless like we own this town
Were holding hands in thunderstorms
Living like well never dieJust slow it down weve got the whole world all to ourselves
And these long summer nights will last forever
Weve got the world to ourselves
The choice is yours to make the best of your situation
And now....lts time for sneaking outYouve got me going down
The nights are longer
Our hearts beat faster
Tell me you feel it too.
