Fallen Away

Thirteen

[Vlastyn]Desolation can't explain
Yearning for death you can't refrain
So bow your head and turn away
And face the night some other dayEndless nights so dark and bright
Shatter your long forgotten sight
So stand beside or face your fears
And turn to god and disappearA long frustration can't explain
Necessities to love his name
One hundred years to crucify
One thousand years to satisfyAs you die you'll long to live
And plead with death to forgive
Bring you back to where you're from
Let your sentence be undoneIn weakness, frozen in your fears
In heaven, dying all these years
In sadness, drowning in your tears
Forever, your cries no one shall hearFall, awaiting in the fields afar
Away, deeper into the fields below
