

She Thinks I Still Care

Elvis Presley

Oh, just because I asked a friend about her
Just because I spoke her name somewhere
Hmm, just because I rang her number by mistake today
You know, she thinks I, I still care And just because I haunt the same old places
(Same old places)
With a memory I will linger ev'ry everywhere
An' just because I'm not the happy guy I used to be Lord, you know, she thinks I still care Well, if she's happy thinkin' I still need her
Yeah, let that silly notion bring her cheer
Oh, how could she ever be so foolish
Tell me, where did she get, Lord such an idea?
Oh, Lord Just because I asked a friend about her
You know, just because I spoke her name somewhere
Just because Lord, I saw her and went to pieces
Lord, you know, she thinks I, Lord, still care
You know, she thinks I, I still care
Lord, she thinks I still care
Oh, Lord, she thinks I still care
