

Glitterbug

Dead Horses

in the forest, in the old....(?) in the country, in the wide open... (?) there's a feeling, brings me to my knees there's a belief in something more than me there's something more than me in some churches, in the old old hands in the corner street bars, in old motels where they live (?) there's a feeling in the core of myself there's a sadness wishing for something else wishing for something else

lost I know, we've all been told (?)
still can't shake the wind that's cold oh
 lost I know, we've all been told (?)

in their faces, in their smiling eyes in every birth, and in the freedom to die in the heartbreak, and in the lover's goodbye we get a feeling everything's gonna be alright everything's gonna be alright

lost I know, we've all been (told)?
still can't shake the wind that's cold oh
 lost I know, we've all been (told)?

and oh this life can bring us down like a sinking ship still sailing round and I know that hope can always be found

lost I know, we've all been told
still can't shake the wind that's cold oh
 lost I know, we've all been told (?)

Lyrics provided by <https://damlyrics.com/>