This Island Life

Violent Femmes

This tea's too strong for me as I await your company
I had too much sun today
Ocean waters wash away
Nothing but the present presenting its presenceThis island life
Separate my right from my wrongNo, I am not pagan but my heart has been forsaken
And the hand of God was on my mind
It took some time from time to time
Now in the course I know time itself will goThis island life
Separates my right from my wrongYou forgot your shoes and I, I have sent a message but I
So many stars in the sky
It's the truths that will not lie
There's a young wild native maiden running mad and barefoot to the seaUntil this island life
Separates my rights from my wrongsThis island life
Finally separates my rights from my wrongThis tea's too strong for me as I await more company
I had too much sun today
Dream of lands lying far away
Pregnant with the present presenting its presentsThis island life
Separate my right from my wrongThis island life
Separate my rights from my songSeparate my right from my wrong
Separate my right from my wrong
Separate my right from my wrong
(Separate my right from my wrong)

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/