My Teeth

Nathan Caswell

My teeth are whiter than white
Arc welder bright
In the cold black of night
I can read by their light

I would not look directly at them
Without proper eye protection
When I smile, look out
I hope you brought your sunscreen,
Hope you brought your sunscreen

My shoes are shiny and new,
Filled with green goo,
Polycarbonate springs,
Air pumps, and things

I have to creep to keep from flying,
I leap three storeys without trying,
Please donâ€™t get me excited
Or Iâ€™ll bounce right out of here,
Iâ€™ll bounce right out of here

If Iâ€™ve learned anything today,
Itâ€™s that some people are Less beautiful than they think they are
If Iâ€™ve learned anything today,
Itâ€™s that most people are
More beautiful than they think they are

My face is younger than me,
Itâ€™s wrinkle-free
Itâ€™s been stretched round my head
Tight as a soldierâ€™s bed

I would not bounce a quarter off it
The impact could cause it to split
And the energy released
Could flatten this entire city block
Flatten this entire block

My teeth are whiter than white
