

Falling Without a Parachute

All New Atmosphere

I dont need anything I'll get by just fine by myself
I can take a million of us and pretend that we're the sun

I've been thinking about everything
Caught up in my selflessness

And now im seeing how much time I've wasted

Caught up in my selfishnessI guess I was there too late to catch your fallI've grown strong enough to make my words get stuck in your head

But my weaknesses come from the answers left unsaid
I'm confused with all this tension

I thought that we were still friends (Are we still friends?)
If I asked for another chance id wonder if you would say yes

Would you say yes?I've been thinking about everything
Caught up in my selflessness

And now im seeing how much time I've wasted

Caught up in my selfishnessI guess I was there too late to catch your fallI dont see what you want from me, no
I dont see what you want from me

I'm pretty sure when this is over
You're gonna turn your backIf I never took my eyes off of you

Would you say yes?
Cause without this friendship we all lose
Would you say yes?I guess I was there too late to catch your fall

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlrics.com/>