Bro Dependent

Lagwagon

I try to focus on what i hear listen to what i see i've thought of it a lot and it's becoming all to clear (chorus) i take it in excess as my true feelings are suppressed i can not find the words to say it without hurting not listening to what you say now watching the things you do as you take a dose of grief as you insist there's no relief perhaps another drink and you take it in excess as your true feeling are supressed you can not find the way to cure it without hurting you cure it but it seems your problem still remains obsession compulsion my friend overdoing evertything so focus on what you need listen to what you hear this is the last time i listen it's becoming oh so clear i'm completely confused here (repeat chorus) i've spoken all too soon

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/