Intro (8 Bars)

Verse 1
You took me by the hand,
You took me off the way down.
My feet stuck in the sand,
My heart is heavy on the ground.
Here we go.
I guess Iâ€™ll know,
Iâ€™ll know just how to be alone.
When it comes, when it goes,
I guess Iâ€™ll know.

Verse 2
The look from in your eyes could bury me right in the ground.
It could make me realise,
I ainâ€™t ready to be found.
No good for you,
No good for none,
but I could learn to be the one.
Iâ€™ll watch you come, Iâ€™ll watch you go,
Iâ€™ll be alone.

Chorus
And through the deadness of the night,
to the colours in the sky.
Through the changinâ€™ of the winds,
I wonâ€™t change myself for her.
Through the coldest of the words,
I will find a love that works.
Oh a love that doesnâ€™t hurt.
I wonâ€™t change myself for her.

Verse 3
I looked across the lake,
Wonder when Iâ€™ll make some men.
Is it one that learns to take something heâ€™s not sure he can?
Or is it one who takes a stand,
So heâ€™ll die a happy man?
When it comes, when it goes,

Iâ€™ll be a man.

Chorus
And through the deadness of the night,
to the colours in the sky.
Through the changinâ€™ of the winds,
I wonâ€™t change myself for her.
Through the coldest of the words,
I will find a love that works.
Oh a love that doesnâ€™t hurt.
I wonâ€™t change myself for her.

Instrumental (4 bars)

Chorus
And through the deadness of the night,
to the colours in the sky.
Through the changinâ€™ of the winds,
I wonâ€™t change myself for her.
Through the coldest of the words,
I will find a love that works.
Oh a love that doesnâ€™t hurt.
I wonâ€™t change myself for her.
