Too Old To Change

Jerry Jeff Walker

Going gray around the temples
Usually days when I won't shave
Have a, have a trip over ripples
And watching them roll in to wavesI've been too long riding this range
Running wild without reins
Always traveling against the grains
And pretty girls deserve better
I'm too old to changeCan't say I've been sorry
About anything I've ran off to see
And all the nights that we roared
And going home never dawned upon meThere's been too long riding this range
Running wild without reins
Always traveling against the grains
And pretty girls deserve better
I'm too old to changeYou better get gone and grow old graceful
As graceful as push-ups can get ya
But some times I look over my shoulder
And smile about what they said about meThere's been too long riding this range
Running wild without reins
Always traveling against the grains
And pretty girls deserve better
But I'm too old to changeHe travel very far, very far, very far
Without reinOh, he travel against the grains
Very far, very farOh, he travel against the grains
Always against the grains
