My Machete

Tsunami Bomb

When I first arrived and you see me there,
your hopeful eyes shattered my despair.
Know what we use to be.
No one else in more confused than me.Oh, I don't want to hurt you anymore.
I drop my machete to the floor.
You look so happy-sad.
I know I can't expect you'll wait for me.The soft taste of you lips conjures memories of a world where petals fall from above.
It seems so far away.
I am lost, to both of our dismay.Would someone please pass me the key to this exam that I've written?
