Price to Play

Staind

Failed to see
How destructive we can be Taking without giving back
'Til the damage can be seenCan you see?
Can you see?The more you take, the more you blame
But everything still feels the same
The more you hurt, the more you strain
The price you pay to play the gameThen all you see and all you gain
And all you step on with no shame
There are no rules, no one to blame
The price to play the gameApathy
The chosen way to be
Blindly look the other way
While you waste away with meCan you see?
Can you see?The more you take, the more you blame
But everything still feels the same
The more you hurt, the more you strain
The price you pay to play the gameThen all you see and all you gain
And all you step on with no shame
There are no rules, no one to blame
The price to play the gameWhat you pay to play the game?
What you pay to play the game?
What you pay to play the game?
What you pay to play the game?The more you take, the more you blame
But everything still feels the same
The more you hurt, the more you strain
The price you pay to play the gameThen all you see and all you gain
And all you step on with no shame
There are no rules, no one to blame
The price to play the gameWhat you pay to play the game?
What you pay to play the game?
What you pay to play the game?
What you pay to play the game?

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/