Alone At Last

Whyte Horses

know, now you're walking alone
you feel it in your bones
the need to walk alone
no one knows but yourself no one else around, on your own

how good it must feel
to be someone for real
now you are on your own

someone elses hand, with no one else around
on your own

to be someone who's real to be all by yourself
be on your own
