

A Hot Minute

Lisa Loeb

They washed my windows and then ripped the forest right out before my eyes I was in the window barely dressed amazed myself had to decide leave the left one and some scruff along the fence I screamed through the glass can you believe this but no one was there to hear me gasp You dont want to know what happens when I start to follow you around you dont want to see what happens when I befriend everyone youve ever known so give it up now its a hot minute that lasts a lifetime
Im not asking for forever Im just asking for tonight
I canceled dinner. I was starving alone, but I just didnt want to cook I stole a car and drove around behind you, giving you my saddest look through our open windows I explained to you why I was there and you pulled right over to the side of the road to tell me you didnt care
You dont want to know what happens
when I start to follow you around
you dont want to see what happens
when I befriend everyone youve ever known
so give it up now its a hot minute that lasts a lifetime
Im not asking for forever Im just asking for tonightIm just asking for tonight
I want my love to last a lifetime. Do you?
With those eyes and that smile Im sure you do
I want my love to last a lifetime. Do you?
With those eyes and that smile Im sure you do
I want my love to last a lifetime. Do you?
With those eyes and that smile Im sure you do
I want my love to last a lifetime. Do you?
With those eyes and that smile Im sure you do
You dont want to know what happens
when I start to follow you around
you dont want to see what happens
when I befriend everyone youve ever known
so give it up now its a hot minute that lasts a lifetime
Im not asking for forever Im just asking for tonight

give it up now (give it up now) its a hot minute that lasts a lifetime Im not asking for forever Im just asking for tonight
Im just asking for tonight Im just asking for so give it up now its a hot minute that lasts a lifetime
Im not asking for forever Im just asking for tonight
