

Stabbed in the Throat

Cannibal Corpse

As the blood begins to gush out the side of your neck
I thrust my cold steel into your face, your closer to death
A twelve inch blade will help decide your ultimate fate
This summons to die has been given to you for accepting my hate
Stabbed in the throat
For no reason but to kill, for no reason but the thrill
You must die for me to survive
Stabbed in the throat
I believe in sacrifice, sliced open with my knife
Your body is now life deprived
Vocal cords twitching, esophagus severed, a hemorrhaging brain
Your lacerated jugular vein is spurting away
As mortality fades I am ready to flay your whole body and head
Vigorously carving this fresh human flesh, I am one with the dead
Stabbed in the throat
For no reason but to kill, for no reason but the thrill
You must die for me to survive
Stabbed in the throat
I believe in sacrifice, sliced open with my knife
Your body is now life deprived
I'm chewing bloody skin from the cadaver
Consuming lifeless meat, mangled and tattered
Half-eaten corpse lies skinless in the gutter
I am revitalized
Odium, embedded in my skull
To kill and eat your prey a way of nature
The taste of death must consciously be savored
My cannibal existence never endangered
Just look into my eyes
Subjugate, intensity to blame
Gnawing on the head, sliced to fucking shreds
Knife to the gullet results in cessation
Stabbed in the throat
For no reason but to kill, for no reason but the thrill
You must die for me to survive
Stabbed in the throat
I believe in sacrifice, sliced open with my knife
Your body is now life deprived
