For Awhile

Ryan Robinette

Girl you never looked better than you do in that black dress, I can't stop my eyes from ridin' the lines of your silhouette. And that sunsets sinking down low got me thinking what we both know, we both know that the banjos calling our name or the hollow? and we both know where it's gonna go yeah.
Your body on mine red painted nails running up my spine, and your hair dropped down rocking my flannel while we're fooling around. We can blame it on the red wine if you wanna take it nice and slow yeah you know we're gonna pull them shades down tight make it last all night girl you know we're gonna be here for awhile.
Pretty little live by house lookin' so reckless. with your eyes locked on mine between you and I there's no secrets. I thought that were gonna have to hold back baby when you let it go, just let it go you gotta stop that teasing we got all evening yeah and we both know where it's gonna go yeah
Your body on mine red painted nails running up my spine, and your hair dropped down rocking my flannel while we're fooling around. We can blame it on the red wine if you wanna take it nice and slow yeah you know we're gonna pull them shades down tight make it last all night girl we're gonna be here for awhile.
Yeah we're gonna be here for awhile. Yeah we're gonna blame it on the red wine if you wanna take it nice and slow yeah you know we're gonna pull them shades down tight make it last all night.
Your body on mine red painted nails running up my spine, and your hair dropped down rocking my flannel while we're fooling around. We can blame it on the red wine if you wanna take it nice and slow yeah you know we're gonna pull them shades down tight make it last all night girl we're gonna be here for awhile. Yeah we're gonna be here for awhile.
Girl you never looked better than you do in that black dress.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/