Begin Again

Gratitude

There are times in life when you want it so bad
That you hold too tight and you kill it so dead
It's been done before, it will be done again
Like the tides at shore, like the fire and the windFor so long, every time now, so long
All will see, all will breathe
Oh, I ll begin again and it hurts
Oh so you really understandAnd the waiting days there is no one waiting
It's just all a ghost that weve all been making
And every time I turn my head so wrongAll will see, all will breathe
Oh, I will begin again and it hurts
So I will really understandFor so long, so long, so long like the tides at shore
Like the fire and the wind, I will breathe
I will see her, I'll begin again
