

As Far As Yesterday Goes

The Red Button

As far as yesterday goes,
I'm really sorry
For causing you pain as far as anyone knows You left it for me, no need to explain
It didn't work out like we hoped it would
I said something that worked so good
And you may still regret the path you chose

As far as yesterday goes,
won't you forgive me
For losing my head, came a little too close Brought back bad memories, awakened the dead
Like one too many mornings after too much wine
We had ourselves a few good times
But did the higher make up for all the lows?

I don't know,
but you seem to say it's a dream
I'll do it forever in my memory, as real as you'll ever be it's all I suppose,
but that's as far as yesterday goes

[Instrumental]

It didn't work out like we hoped it would
And you may still come out smelling like a rose, like a rose
But you seem to say it's a dream
I'll never say a word about what it used to be Agreed to disagree, one too many lows,

brought things too close
But you seem to say it's a dream
I'll do it forever in my memory,
It's all I suppose,
but that's as far as yesterday goes
