

The Truth Is Who You Are

Tenth Avenue North

It would be easier
If You were just a thought in my head
Simply something that I once read
Belief needing my defense
And it would be easier
If You were something I once knew
A hope just to hold onto
But You are holding out your hands
'Cause You came to take us back to the start
You came to touch the hardness of our hearts
You gave us truth, the truth is who You are
It's who You are
And it's not enough to just say I believe
'Cause truth is talk is cheap
So grace give me eyes to see

That You came to take us back to the start
You came to touch the hardness of our hearts
You gave us truth, the truth is who You are
It's who You are, it's who You are
Flesh and blood, You offer us
Oh, to eat the bread and drink the cup
Oh, to taste, to see, to feel, to touch
Emmanuel, God, with us
Emmanuel, God, with us
'Cause You came to break the chains apart
To wake the dead and sleeping of our hearts
You gave us truth, the truth is who You are
It's who You are, it's who You are
It's who You are
